NOTICE TO DISCOVERED CLAIMANT TO PRESENT PROOF OF CLAIM

Dear Claimant:

On March 12, 2023 (the "Closing Date"), the New York State Department of Financial Services closed Signature Bank (the "Failed Institution") and appointed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") as Receiver (the "Receiver").

The Receiver has discovered that you may have a claim against the Failed Institution. If you do not have a claim against the Failed Institution, please disregard this notice.

Published Notice/Claims Bar Date: The Receiver has published a notice in one or more newspapers stating that the Failed Institution was closed and that any claims against the Failed Institution must be filed on or before July 17, 2023 (the "Claims Bar Date").

How to File Your Claim: In order for the Receiver to consider your claim you must submit the properly completed Proof of Claim Form along with the supporting documentation to the Receiver by the Claims Bar Date. You may submit your claim on-line, by mail, or by fax.

Please visit https://resolutions.fdic.gov/claimsportal/s/ to file a claim online and for other helpful services you can perform electronically. When possible, it is recommended that claims be submitted to the FDIC on-line.

If you choose to file your claim via the mail, it is recommended that you send it by U.S. certified mail or a commercial delivery service that can provide you with a receipt of delivery.

Filing After the Claims Bar Date: Failure to file your claim on or before the Claims Bar Date will result in disallowance by the Receiver and the disallowance will be final. 12 U.S.C. 1821(d)(5)(C)(i).

Time for Receiver to Determine Your Claim: The Receiver has 180 days from the date it receives your claim to determine whether to allow or to disallow your claim.

If Your Claim is Disallowed or You Do Not Receive a Timely Notice of Disallowance: Pursuant to 12 U.S.C. Section 1821(d)(6), if the Receiver notifies you of the disallowance of your claim or if you do not receive a notice of disallowance on or before the end of the 180-day period, you have the right to file a lawsuit on your claim (or continue any lawsuit commenced before the appointment of the Receiver). Your lawsuit must be filed within 60 days after the date of the notice of disallowance by the Receiver OR within 60 days after the end of the 180-day period, whichever is earlier. You must file your lawsuit either in the United States District (or Territorial) Court for the District where the Failed Institution's principal place of business was located or in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. The Receiver will not consent or agree to further administrative review of your disallowed claim. 12 U.S.C. 1821(d)(7)(A).

Lawsuits: If you do not file a lawsuit (or continue any lawsuit commenced before the appointment of the Receiver) before the end of the 60-day period, the disallowance of your claim will be final and you will have no further rights or remedies with respect to your claim. 12 U.S.C. Section 1821(d)(6)(B)(ii).

Insured Deposit Claims: Claims for insured deposits are claims against FDIC in its corporate capacity as deposit insurer - not against the Receiver. If any portion of your claim is for an insured deposit, your rights differ from the rights described in the preceding paragraphs. An insured depositor's rights are set forth in 12 U.S.C. Section 1821(f). Please contact a claims agent at the below phone number for deposit claims inquiries.

Note to Class Claimants: By law, the Receiver will not accept a claim filed on behalf of a proposed class of individuals or entities or a class of individuals or entities certified by a court. EACH individual or entity must file a separate claim with the Receiver.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact an FDIC Claims Agent at (972) 761-8677 or refer to the FDIC's website at www.fdic.gov.

Filing After the Claims Bar Date: Failure to file your claim on or before the Claims Bar Date will result in disallowance by the Receiver and the disallowance will be final. 12 U.S.C. 1821(d)(5)(C)(i).

Time for Receiver to Determine Your Claim: The Receiver has 180 days from the date it receives your claim to determine whether to allow or to disallow your claim.

If Your Claim is Disallowed or You Do Not Receive a Timely Notice of Disallowance: Pursuant to 12 U.S.C. Your lawsuit must be filed within 60 days after the date of the notice of disallowance by the Receiver OR within 60 days after the end of the 180-day period, whichever is earlier. NOTICE TO DISCOVERED CLAIMANT TO PRESENT PROOF OF CLAIM

Dear Claimant:

On March 12, 2023 (the "Closing Date"), the New York State Department of Financial Services closed Signature Bank (the "Failed Institution") and appointed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") as Receiver (the "Receiver").

The Receiver has discovered that you may have a claim against the Failed Institution. If you do not have a claim against the Failed Institution, please disregard this notice.

Published Notice/Claims Bar Date: The Receiver has published a notice in one or more newspapers stating that the Failed Institution was closed and that any claims against the Failed Institution must be filed on or before July 17, 2023 (the "Claims Bar Date").

How to File Your Claim: In order for the Receiver to consider your claim you must submit the properly completed Proof of Claim Form along with the supporting documentation to the Receiver by the Claims Bar Date. You may submit your claim on-line, by mail, or by fax.

Please visit https://resolutions.fdic.gov/claimsportal/s/ to file a claim online and for other helpful services you can perform electronically. When possible, it is recommended that claims be submitted to the FDIC on-line.

If you choose to file your claim via the mail, it is recommended that you send it by U.S. certified mail or a commercial delivery service that can provide you with a receipt of delivery.

Filing After the Claims Bar Date: Failure to file your claim on or before the Claims Bar Date will result in disallowance by the Receiver and the disallowance will be final. 12 U.S.C. 1821(d)(5)(C)(i).

Time for Receiver to Determine Your Claim: The Receiver has 180 days from the date it receives your claim to determine whether to allow or to disallow your claim.

If Your Claim is Disallowed or You Do Not Receive a Timely Notice of Disallowance: Pursuant to 12 U.S.C. Section 1821(d)(6), if the Receiver notifies you of the disallowance of your claim or if you do not receive a notice of disallowance on or before the end of the 180-day period, you have the right to file a lawsuit on your claim (or continue any lawsuit commenced before the appointment of the Receiver). Your lawsuit must be filed within 60 days after the date of the notice of disallowance by the Receiver OR within 60 days after the end of the 180-day period, whichever is earlier. You must file your lawsuit either in the United States District (or Territorial) Court for the District where the Failed Institution's principal place of business was located or in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. The Receiver will not consent or agree to further administrative review of your disallowed claim. 12 U.S.C. 1821(d)(7)(A).

Lawsuits: If you do not file a lawsuit (or continue any lawsuit commenced before the appointment of the Receiver) before the end of the 60-day period, the disallowance of your claim will be final and you will have no further rights or remedies with respect to your claim. 12 U.S.C. Section 1821(d)(6)(B)(ii).

Insured Deposit Claims: Claims for insured deposits are claims against FDIC in its corporate capacity as deposit insurer - not against the Receiver. If any portion of your claim is for an insured deposit, your rights differ from the rights described in the preceding paragraphs. An insured depositor's rights are set forth in 12 U.S.C. Section 1821(f). Please contact a claims agent at the below phone number for deposit claims inquiries.

Note to Class Claimants: By law, the Receiver will not accept a claim filed on behalf of a proposed class of individuals or entities or a class of individuals or entities certified by a court. EACH individual or entity must file a separate claim with the Receiver.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact an FDIC Claims Agent at (972) 761-8677 or refer to the FDIC's website at www.fdic.gov.
